In Memory

Heinrich Rossmann, MD

Dr. H. Rossmann was one of the few doctors who also cooperated as an expert on behalf of the Association of Statutory Health Insurance Physicians with Dr. Reinhold Voll, the founder of electroacupuncture (EAV). Now he has died shortly before his 90th birthday.

Since 1970 he has been involved with EAV, found a special methodological approach, which he continued with curiosity, imagination and the joy of experimentation. Together with Dr. N. Mayer, among others, he developed the HOMOPATH® test program, today the most modern and considered the "standard".

He has documented his extensive, applicable knowledge in numerous lectures at home and abroad, his curriculum "Naturopathy – EAV" for the LMU Munich as well as in books, articles and journal articles.

Memories

Here again, we see the great loss on one of the “old rabbits” from EAV and natural biological medicine. We visited Dr. Rossmann’s practice in Munich during several of our Germany Tour programs. Our founder, Dr. Walter Sturm also translated a number of Dr. Rossmann’s lectures into English both in Germany and in the USA. We also had the honor of meeting and hearing him at the Medicine Week Conference a few times. I spoke briefly with him again about a year ago when we exchanged Christmas greetings. He advised me at that time that he was retiring(!!) and that his son would take over his practice.

Your expertise and willingness to share your knowledge will be greatly missed. May you find rest and peace now.

With fond memories,
Carolyn L. Winsor,
